

This is a digital copy of a book that was preserved for generations on library shelves before it was carefully scanned by Google as part of a project to make the world's books discoverable online.

It has survived long enough for the copyright to expire and the book to enter the public domain. A public domain book is one that was never subject to copyright or whose legal copyright term has expired. Whether a book is in the public domain may vary country to country. Public domain books are our gateways to the past, representing a wealth of history, culture and knowledge that's often difficult to discover.

Marks, notations and other marginalia present in the original volume will appear in this file - a reminder of this book's long journey from the publisher to a library and finally to you.

Usage guidelines

Google is proud to partner with libraries to digitize public domain materials and make them widely accessible. Public domain books belong to the public and we are merely their custodians. Nevertheless, this work is expensive, so in order to keep providing this resource, we have taken steps to prevent abuse by commercial parties, including placing technical restrictions on automated querying.

We also ask that you:

- + Make non-commercial use of the files We designed Google Book Search for use by individuals, and we request that you use these files for personal, non-commercial purposes.
- + Refrain from automated querying Do not send automated queries of any sort to Google's system: If you are conducting research on machine translation, optical character recognition or other areas where access to a large amount of text is helpful, please contact us. We encourage the use of public domain materials for these purposes and may be able to help.
- + Maintain attribution The Google "watermark" you see on each file is essential for informing people about this project and helping them find additional materials through Google Book Search. Please do not remove it.
- + Keep it legal Whatever your use, remember that you are responsible for ensuring that what you are doing is legal. Do not assume that just because we believe a book is in the public domain for users in the United States, that the work is also in the public domain for users in other countries. Whether a book is still in copyright varies from country to country, and we can't offer guidance on whether any specific use of any specific book is allowed. Please do not assume that a book's appearance in Google Book Search means it can be used in any manner anywhere in the world. Copyright infringement liability can be quite severe.

once? and if all corporal things were ranged in order at the same time; or only in the space of seven days, as Moses describes in the beginning of Cerceis? Some interpreters are of opinion, that God created all the matter of the universe out of nothing in an instant, by one simple act of his almighty will; but they are not agreed about the other question. Some maintain that sensible beings were not brought to their
that sensible beings were not brought to their
that sensible beings were not brought to their
that secomplated. This opinion is funnied upon Moses' marration, who expresses it very distinctly. Besides, it cannot be easily conceived, that the chaos should settle into any regular order, till after an infinite variety of different motions, by which the parts of matter separated firm one another, which were of different and incompatible qualities; and till there should be an union and coalescate of those which were of the same form and nature; and that all these motions could not be performed till after a sufficient space of time.

that all this motions could not be performed till after a sufficient space of time.

Others, fearing that consequences contrary to the immutability and omnipotence of the Creator might be drawn from the opinion of a successive creation, have thought, that nothing should be inferred from Moses' description, but a mental succession of order, and that he only represents crietion, have thought, that nothing should be inferred from Moses' description, but a mental succession of order, and that he only represents the creation as performed in succession of time, to accommodate himself to the apprehensions of time, to accommedate himself to the apprehensions of the vulgar, and to give a more intelligible account of it. Matter, always obedient to the commends of the Almighty, had no need of preparation. But the first opinion has the greatest number of followers.

It is also inquired, at what season of the year the world was created I The generality of the fathers think it was created in the Spring. But a great number of others, among whom are the most learned Chronologists, contend that the world was created in Autumn. They wegg, 1. That the Hebrews, the Egyptians, and most of the Orientals, began this year at Autumn; which custom they had received from their more time when the world began. 2. When God created Adam and Eve, and all other avimals, he was to provide them with necessary nourishment.

3. There was fruit upon the trees in the gorden of Eden, Gen. 3. 2, 3. It was therefore Autumn, say they, in whatever place we suppose Adam to have hen weater place we suppose Adam to have hen weatered be chased out of the w.

WORLD,
In Greek, Cosmos; in Hebrew, Thebal. It is taken for the whole universe; comprehending the heavens, earth, sea, the clements, the angels men, animals, in a word, all created beings. John 1. 10. The world was made by him. It is also put for the race of mankind; sometimes in an estensive sense, for all the posterity of Adam. Rom. 5. 12, By one man sin entered into the world. "Sin came to be "among mankind," it is a metonymy, the thing containing, being put for the inhabitents contained. Sometimes it is taken in a more restricted sense, as in John 15. 18. it is put for the wicked in the world, for unregenerated marrament persons. If the world hate you, ye know that it hated me before it hated you. The wicked are called the world, because they relists and sacour nothing but wordly things, know that it hated me before it hated you. The wicked are called the world, because they relish and savour nothing but worldy things, and pursue nothing but worldy things, and pursue nothing but worldy things. It is put likewise for God's chosen people, whather Jeur or Gentiles. 2 Cor. 5. 19, God was in Christ, reconciling the world to himself. And in John 3. 16, God so loved the world, that he gave his only begotten Son to die in their stead, and give satisfaction for them to his justice. Believers are called the world, both because they are taken from among Jaws and Gentiles, and do participate in the corruption of the world. World is put for the Centiles only. Rom. 11.12, If the fall of them be the riches of the world. The Jeur rejecting the sough, and to falling from being God's people, was the occasion of God's manifesting his abundant grace in the consersion of the Gentiles. It is put for sensual lusts and pleasures, for the riches, homours, and dignities of the world. I John 2. 15, Love not the world, neither the things that are in the world. It also stands for the good things of this world. 1 Cor. 7. 31, They that use this world, as not abusing it. ing it.

By good works are to be understood all manner of duties inward and outward, as well thoughts, as words and actions, toward God or man, which are commanded in the law of God, and proceed from a pure heart and faith unfeigned, and are referred unto God's glory; for it is necessary that good works proceed from right principles, and have right motives and ends, namely, a principle of love to God, the motive of obedience to God's law, and the glory of God as the chief end. 1 Cor. 10. 31, Whether therefore we act or drink or whatsoever ve do. do all to ye eat or drink, or whatsoever ye do, do all to the glory of God. Eph. 2. 10, For we are his workmanship, created in Christ Jesus unto the glory of God. Eph. 2. 10, For we are his workmanship, created in Christ Jesus unto good works.

It is said, James 2. 23, You see that by works a man is justified. The Apostle does not there treat of our justification in the sight of God, but of the justification of our faith in the sight of the justification of our faith in the sight of man, and therefore asserts that justification is by works, Ver. 18, I will shew thee my faith by my works, for works justify our faith, and declare us to be justified before men, aho cannot see nor know our faith but by our works. St. Paul, in his Epistles to the Romans and Galatiant, assests, by many arguments, our justification by faith, that receives and relies upon the righteowerses of Christ, that is, his obedience and sufferings, Rom. 3. 24, 28. And swelly the apostles, being inspired by the same Spirit, cannot be supposed to contradict one another.

Min, because he is depraced and weakened with original sin, us not able to fulfil the law, and cannot be justified or accepted before God, on account of his works, for the law shall no flesh be justified, Rom. 3. 20. Gal. 2. 16. The regiseourness of Christ is the sole meritorious cause of our justification; but those that are justified or accepted before God, on the sole meritorious cause of our justification; but those that are justified, are also sanctified, and will be careful to masstain good works, for without holiness no man shall see the Lord, Ilds. 12, 14. Christ's righteensment, received by faith, and imputed to true believers, it the cause of their justification, and gives them agracious title to heaven, and sanctification makes them meet for it: Bernard tay, Bona opera sunt via ad regnum, con causa reguandi; "Good works are the way to the kingdom, not the cause of entering the kingdom."
